

Soul Guidance and Family Healing

A Weekend Intensive in Shamanic Ancestor Work

Sat. – Sun., Apr. 14-15th / 10am-5pm each day

Seattle, WA

The focus of this training is learning to safely assist troubled ghosts, including our recent relatives, to become bright and loving ancestors. We will also explore topics of conscious dying and grounding ancestor work in relationship with the living family. Our time together will include direct engagement with the ancestral guides and troubled dead, prayer, song, and heart-centered group dialogue.

Completion of the first weekend (Ancestral Guidance and Lineage Repair) is helpful if you're new to working with the ancestors and not a requirement. Cost is $200 for the full weekend (Sat & Sun, 10am-5pm each day), flexibility as needed. Spaces are limited to twelve participants and preregistration is requested.

Be in touch to register: (650) 248-8917 / danieljfoor@gmail.com. There is also a monthly ancestors circle in the Seattle that weekend participants are welcome to join before or after the weekend training.

Daniel Foor, Ph.D., is a life-long student of world religion with an emphasis on indigenous wisdom ways. He is also a priest in Ifa/Orisha tradition and leads trainings in ancestor work and earth-honoring ritual. He is also available for healing and mentorship sessions in the San Francisco Bay Area or by phone. For more info on offerings visit: www.ancestralmedicine.org and www.earthmedicine.org.
